Ltd., was in the city yesterday and conferred with local swimming officials regarding the men's and ladies' swimming events which will be run off at Gull Lake on July 26, in conjunction with the 220 yards men and 100 yards ladies' races, provincial championships. Radko and Jones

Hang June 10th

Bertram Albert Jones and Mike Radko, will be hanged June 10 for the slaying of Ernest Midwinter, Calgary taxi driver.

So ruled the Appellate Division of Supreme Court of Alberta Monday in dismissing the appeal of both men from the death sentences passed upon them when found guilty by a jury, by Chief Justice, W. C. Simmons on March 18.

A. A. McGillivray to the Appeal Court

Ottawa, April 27.—A well-authenticated rumor is that A. A. McGillivray, K.C., Calgary, a leading member of the Alberta bar, will be appointed to the appeal division of the Supreme Court of Alberta in succession to Mr. Justice W. L. Walsh.

Mr. Justice Walsh was recently named Lieutenant-Governor of Alberta and will continue his judicial duties until April 30. On May 5, the new lieutenant-governor will take over the functions of that post.

Irvine Should Be Able to Fix It

Ottawa, April 28.—With capitalism bringing the world a much-advanced stage of over-industrialism, and social "engineering" being far behind the times, fears were expressed for the world when the capitalist system of the world of today disintegrates by William Irvine, M.P. of the Alberta United Farmers group, in an address to a large audience here.

The member of Parliament declared millions of people had been thrown onto charity while granaries were bulging with wheat. The world had passed through the systems of slavery, feudalism and "goldism," and had been advancing rapidly in recent years under capitalism, in the mechanical, chemical and industrial spheres. Social engineering had not kept pace with the times and the Christian Golden Rule and co-operation had fallen down in a world of competition in which "the devil took the hindmost."

Eight Carload Horses Shipped to East

Olds Has $50,000 Fire

Olds, April 28.—Five buildings in all fell victim to flames in one of the most disastrous fires the town has ever seen, when the John Deere implement house, one residence, large livery stable and two school buildings were razed here early Sunday morning. Major Miller Speaks To Local Cadets

On the evening of April 27th, the boys and the new outsiders there had a very good treat in listening to Major L. W. Miller. He gave the account of his trip from England to Cape Town. He told of his trips through South Africa, where he has helped dig for gold and diamonds. The Table Mountain, so called because of its appearance is seen many miles off shore. In the province of Natal there is a large area where snakes only are allowed. These snakes are all common African snakes. One of the species he has seen is a cobra, which is as fast as he can. At Kimberley, on an diamond camp it takes 21,000, 000 lbs. of removed earth to get one pound of diamonds. One karat is about the size of the end of a match.

When a worker finds a diamond he has found his grub for a month, so to speak. The white men hire negroes to do the labor at about five cents a day. These hired laborers are very lazy in the natural habit, but will work for six months and then go off to the bush for another six months, where they trade off six cows or two goats for a wife.

The Zulus of Zululand are negroes of fine physique. They have huge white teeth, which they clean with salt or sand. The natives of Africa have one of the finest native signaling systems. They heard of the death of Queen Victoria before many whites in South Africa could get the news by cablegram. Major Miller finished his evening's talk by telling the Cadets that he would put them through their faces in two week's time. He received the hearty applause of the whole crowd.

Before Mr. Miller started his speech he was given an exhibition of acrobatic stunts by T. O'Neil and his group of boys from combined Trail Rangers and Tuxis groups. The boys of the groups were: Edgar Todd, Wheeler Wiltsie, Paul Madsen, Fred Mast and "Bob" Todd. They did a little pyramid building and a few other tricks, which received the hearty applause of everybody present at the gathering.

Mr. Miller commended Mr. O'Neil and the boys.

Z. A. Vaughn Dies Suddenly

A gloom was cast over the district of Spring Valley, East of Lacombe, on the morning of Saturday, April 25th, when Zenas Vaughn, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Vaughn, passed away at his home. Although he had been ill for some time, his death came as a shock to his friends, who thought he was on the way to recovery. The funeral, which was held from the family residence on Monday, April 27th, was attended by a large number of friends. Rev. Mr. Dobson, of Edmonton, conducted the service, which was held at 11 A.M. Layton and Rev. Mr. Woods. A beautiful duet was sung by Mr. and Mrs. N. K. Woody. The pall bearers were W. Keith, C. Pangle, A. Stewart, J. Kanguesser, A. McLean and D. McLean. The many floral tokens testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. There are left to mourn his loss, his widow, three young daughters his parents and one sister, Mrs. C. Bailey.

Now Raising Chicks In Spring Colors

Great surprises are in store for some patriarchal roosters of Calgary flocks when they will be called upon to deliver speeches of welcome to this year's young immigrants from the incubators of a certain Calgary hatch. They will suspect the worst about that bran mash they flched from the coops in past night's purges. Any sane rooster can see pink elephants and straw-hatted giraffes and still retain hopes of fulfilling his mother's ambitions for him, but when he sees the younger generation of his own race roaming about the highway in most unsuitable purples, and greens he is justified in gobbling a doorknob and ending it all.

Little chicks with plumage of a fluffy, but vivid green were hatched out of the shell on Friday, last. In the case of social ostracism which awaits them in their barnyard destinations. The feat was accomplished, it was stated by the proprietor, by injecting a serum into the egg by means of a hypodermic needle on the nineteenth day of incubation. While only purples and greens were obtained, it was said that careful blending of these shades would produce a sort of blue.

The chicks seemed to be doing rather well under the circumstances and showed no ill effects from the experiment.

A Modern Fable

As Our Friend, Mr. Aesop, Would Say--

Once upon a time the Beasts of the Field, the Birds of the Air, and the Fishes of the Sea were having a hard time because food was scarce and their stomachs were empty.

One day the Crow said: "We can't go on like this very much longer, so let's call a meeting and find out who is to blame."

Out went the word, and in came the Beasts, the Birds and the Fishes.

The Wolf climbed up on a big boulder and said, "Up to a year ago we could get plenty of food without very much effort, but now everything seems to have gone to smash and something's got to be done about it. Has anybody any suggestion to offer?"

The Lion looked at the Tiger, the Tiger looked at the Elephant, and the Giraffe craned his neck and looked the whole bunch over.

Finally the Bear spoke up and said, "I think we are all 'somewhat' to blame for the existing conditions. Up to within the last few years it was my custom to lay aside a certain amount of food to tide me over, but the flush times we had a while back led me to believe they were always going to last, and so now I find myself with nothing stored up and food hard to get. Personally, I am blaming nobody but myself."

Before anybody else had a chance to say a word the Jackal barked out, "We didn't come here to listen to a lot of twaddle such as we've just heard. If nobody has a plan to offer that will better conditions, we might just as well adjourn."

"Wait a minute," said the Elephant. "I see we have no representative from the Bees and I move that we send for the Head Bee Worker and see what he has to say about it."

The Tiger said that that was all nonsense, because, all that Bees thought about was Work, hence they were not broadminded enough to grasp the situation. However the Head Bee Worker was sent for, and when he arrived and was told what all the hullabaloo was about, he said, "I am sorry you called me away from my work to take part in this discussion, because I am really too busy gathering honey to attend conventions and listen to resolutions."

"We Bees have no fault to find with present conditions. I will admit that we have to go farther and work harder for our honey than we did a few years ago, but we get it just the same, and now you will have to excuse me because on the way over here I discovered a wonderful new place for gathering honey. It will take a little more and harder work to get it, but we Bees don't mind a little thing like that," and off he flew.

After he had departed, the Tiger said, "There what did I tell you?" All that Buzzer had to offer was a lot of talk about Work, and he and everybody like him makes me sick."

The Lion growled, "I move we adjourn." The Elephant seconded the motion and out they went into the dark with their stomachs still empty while the Bees were contentedly hived after a hard day's work that well repaid them for their labor.

Nearly 3000 years ago Aesop said: "Love for work is the greatest stimulus a man can have, and the man who loves his work is the man who is truly happy and contented."

TOO MUCH SENSATIONALISM

On Wednesday the United States coastguard Tahoe, bearing a Canadian seaman injured in an explosion aboard an alleged rum runner, raced for twelve hours to port, in an unsuccessful attempt to save his life.

The items has little news value. Had the seaman been killed by a shot from the coastguard, however, the affair would have been blazoned forth in streamer headlines. The international complications which always attend the killing of one nation by another, intensified by the unique situation existing in connection with United States efforts to stop rum smuggling from Canada, would have made the incident, in newspaper parlance, a good story.

This is quite easy to understand, yet it is more than a pity that so much publicity is given events of a provocative nature, and that other incidents, illustrative of international courtesy and co-operation in the face of death, are recorded in obscure corners of the daily newspapers.

International negotiations which have followed the shooting of smugglers and the sinking of rum ships, have all dealt largely with technical aspects and in none of them has there been even the remotest suggestion of a serious split between the two countries. Yet press sensationalism, aided on some occasions by inflammatory speech by those who should have known better, has produced no small measure of national ill-feeling.

Wider publicity to such incidents as the race of the Tahoe would help to restore a balanced attitude toward the whole question.

Drudgery is an Extravagance

FOR five hours today this woman patiently toiled over a washboard . . . bending, lifting, rubbing . . . doing the things a tireless little Electric Washer can do in two hours. Day after day, she dusts, sweeps, cleans . . . doing things a vacuum cleaner would do twice as fast with half the effort.

With Electricity ever at hand such drudgery is an extravagant waste of time and effort. Hours that now drag slowly by might be enjoyed in doing the things she'd rather do. The woman who wishes golden hours of freedom must first break the shackles of housework. Electricity is ready to help.

License Refunds Being Mailed Out

Auto license refund cheques are being mailed out to license holders at the rate of 1000 a day, according to James C. Thompson, provincial auditor. The whole work would be completed within two weeks.

By the budget adopted at the recent session of the legislature there was a general reduction of $5 on all motor license fees.

As about 40,000 licenses had been issued it was necessary to make out a similar number of cheques, which at $5 each, would relieve the provincial treasury of $200,000.

In order to facilitate the work and reduce labor, the Government had printed 25,000 special cheques made out for $5 so that all that was required was to sign and stamp them.

There is no need for prospective recipients of the $5 cheque to write the government, officials said. Work is going on and in due course all refunds will be mailed.

The number of cheques issued in this refund, stated Mr. Thompson, is greater than the average number issued in the course of a provincial general election. That gives no idea of the amount of labor involved.

Exiled But Still Very Hopeful

Alfonso XIII, the exiled King of Spain, has arrived in England where presumably he intends to make his residence for some time. However, since he left Spain rather hurriedly on April 14, slightly more than a week ago, he has made it clear that he did not abdicate but left temporarily "in order not to influence the decision of the Spanish people and to avoid strife."

This indicates that he has not renounced the throne. Mr. Thompson, is greater than the average number issued in the course of a provincial general election. That gives no idea of the amount of labor involved.

It has been said that a Bourbon never learns anything and never forgets anything. The exiled King does not deserve that description. It is true that he always believed in absolutism and never realized the value of compromise, but in many ways he is progressive in his outlook. It may be presumed he will have time during his present bitter experience to regret his failure to recognize the merits of constitutional government with a king at the head. He will have opportunity to study the British monarchical system at close range and maybe he will discover the secret of the phenomenal popularity of the British Royal House.

The Trucks and the Railways

Editor the Lacombe Western Globe.

We notice in a recent issue of your paper, an article headed "The Railroads and the Trucks," in which the writer expresses grave concerns for the railroads and leaves the impression that the public by using trucks and buses, which he admits are more convenient and pleasant, is throwing large numbers of men out of employment. May we ask for a little of your valuable space in an endeavor to refute the statements therein.

In the first place, a statistician for the Railroads at a recent meeting when Motor vs. Rail Traffic was being discussed, made the assertion that the buses are responsible for only about four per cent. of the decrease in railway passenger traffic and pointed out that the "private" car is the worst offender in this regard. No one, even among railroad employees has taken to suggest, however, that there be no further cars manufactured or sold for private use, nor that it be made a crime to operate those now owned by private citizens.

The truck, however, is different. It was almost as long as it stayed in cities or was used on work that was impossible for the railroads to handle such as "gravel hauling, etc." or by farmers to haul their produce from the farm to the nearest railroad siding. As soon, however, as the farmers and others started hauling goods past the siding and into cities or along railroad lines, it became a national menace.

Just what is it all about? There has never, as far as we know, been any demand by the public for a curtailment of truck service. It is true enough that motor hauling is a serious menace to a certain class of railway business, but there are compensating features as well. The railroads themselves secure a very large and important share of their business directly from motor traffic, of all kinds. It costs by rail anywhere from $75.00 to $300.00 freight to place such motor vehicles in Alberta. The railroads haul gasoline, oil, and a thousand and one things directly attributable to motor traffic.

We hear a good deal about the roads being built, maintained and paid for by the tax payers, and it is just here that so many people jump to the conclusion that the truck and bus operators are not in that class. If the gasoline tax is fair and equitable, the trucks are paying taxes to pay for the highway. It is only when the tax is levied on the use of the license, and few make inquiries as to just what is being paid by trucks. We offer a little information along these lines. A two-ton truck operated from Edmonton to Lacombe pays a yearly license of $35.00, plus tonnage tax of $15.00, 6 cents per gallon on gas, or about $10.00 per round trip, on approximately 300 trips per year, $450.00 and in addition pays to someone in Alberta Insurance and other fees, amounting to about $100.00 besides the general run of body and motor repairs and tires, which amount to considerably more than anyone not connected with trucks has any idea of.

Your writer makes it appear that owing to truck competition the railroad may have to curtail services and has already laid off a good many men. Let us look again. There is being delivered in Lacombe daily about 3 tons of freight that without truck services would be shipped by rail. At the most there is not over one box car load per week and what the trucks do deliver is brought in early the day following the receipt of the orders by the wholesalers; in other words they give an express service. Railwaymen are entitled to consideration, but it must not be forgotten, that it requires at least three times as many men to handle freight per ton mile by motor truck as by rail, no employment is being helped, rather than curtailed by the use of trucks.

It is noted the railway men have decided to boycott any stores using truck services and the closing of your article is that the competition is unfair.

We are reminded of the blacksmiths, when cars first came in, who when they saw motor vehicles supplementing the horses, they had been shoeing, threw nails in the street to puncture the tires. It did not stop the cars, and no action of the railway men will stop the trucks. They are here to stay, irrespective of who operates them.

The garage man, the oil companies and every merchant in your town, who wants his goods fresh and with as little handling as possible, and does not want to carry a heavy stock of them and who wants to save something in the cost of doing business will continue to use the trucks.

The railways still handle away the largest percentage of goods coming into town and we feel that it is a big wide world and everyone has the privilege to step out and try to make an honest living in whatever line of work he chooses.

Again thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, I remain, John W. Valens, Edmonton-Red Deer Truckportation.

C.G.I.T. Entertain Lacombe Mothers
C.G.I.T. girls and their leaders, Miss E. Jagoe, Mrs. L. Aldwinckle, and Miss E. Young, entertained the Mothers at a delightful banquet on Friday evening, eighty-two persons being present. Following the theme "Life's Highway," table decorations depicted the various phases of life's journey, after the style of Pilgrim's Progress. Speakers also followed the same line of thought in their addresses. Mrs. C. E. Todd compared the teen age to a Wilderness through which a girl needs special guidance. Paisy Hay stressed the point that Mothers are responsible to see that girls get only high ideals in the home. Miss Jagoe gave a brief resume of the inception of C.G.I.T. Work, also an outline of the activities carried on by the local groups. Katherine Newton's talk on camps and camp life was most enjoyable. Rev. R. B. Layton reminded the girls that their present activities would have a far-reaching effect on their future lives.

Apple Blossom Dance

The Anglican Young People's Association of Lacombe will hold their 2nd Annual Apple Blossom Dance in the spacious dining room of the Adelphi Hotel. The dance floor in this place is one of the finest in the country, and the floor is large enough to accommodate a large crowd. People of Lacombe will remember the dance last year. It was one of the prettiest ever held in Lacombe. From the amount of preparation being made this year by the Association, this year's dance will be even more beautiful. The Star Orchestra has been engaged for this occasion, and will have a completely new line of popular dance numbers. For the older people, who do not wish to dance, there will be several card tables placed in the rotunda of the hotel, where cards may be played.

Spreading Doctrine of Communism

E. J. Garland, United Farmers, M.P., telling the world of awful conditions in Alberta, backed by Wm. Irvine, United Farmer M.P., warning the country that secession of the West is seriously being considered by western farmers, will go a long way towards keeping conditions from getting better. With wild stories such as are being put forward by these farmer leaders being widely circulated, capital will be wary about entering this field, and in consequence, "better times" will be long delayed.

Irvine, M.P., represents Waskasine riding in the Federal House, and unfortunately, Lacombe is in his constituency. How he came to be selected to represent this great farming community is a cause for wonder among those who had no hand in the wire-pulling that brought him here. Practically unknown except to a few socialistically inclined people in Central Alberta, although he had been in parliament before as the representative of Labor, and was known among the "Reds" as being Communistically inclined, he packed his carbag, landed in Bentley, got hold of a farm, joined the U.F.A., and overnight was selected as the United Farmers candidate. Irvine had for many years been most prominent in some of our cities as a labor man, and with his gift of oratory, was listened to enthusiastically as he spread his Communist doctrine. If the United Farmers of Alberta had reached the country over, they could not have selected a representative who has less in common with the farming industry. Red Labor and the farmers can have nothing in common. Getting tired of farming, and having accomplished his ends, Irvine has retired, temporarily at least as a "dirt" farmer, and has taken up his home in Edmonton, where he is now in great demand among his Labor following. He is finding it a great deal easier and more lucrative to farm the "farmer" than to farm the land. Irvine knows that his talk of secession is just so much "hot air." "Secession is the desire of the Communists, and in his case, "the wish is the father of the thought."

Garland, M.P., is apparently of the same stripe. In an attempt to make himself solid with the Red Labor element he pictures conditions in the west as he would have them, and succeeds in working himself up to a state where he believes Alberta has gone to the dogs. He tells of workmen collapsing on the streets for lack of food; of school children fainting at their desks for lack of nourishment, and many more equally wild statements. Even his Leader, Premier Brownlee, has been compelled to deny Garland's statements. Premier Brownlee states emphatically that conditions such as described by Garland do not exist in the Province. Evidently in Garland's case also "the wish is the father of the thought."

Fortunately for the West, Irvine and Garland have only a small following in the rural communities. They must look for support in centres where labor is strong, and where the majority of the workers are natives of Southern Europe who have been brought up as Communists. This fact is shown by the reception Axelsson and other Red agitators are receiving throughout Alberta, where an attempt is being made to organize what they call "A Unity League." The farmers of Alberta are not yet in a mood to stand for Communistic talk.

The Western Globe will not deny that conditions in Alberta and all Canada, and in fact, all the world, are unsatisfactory and that much hardship is being borne by our people, but we cannot see how the ranting of men of the Irvine and Garland stamp can accomplish anything towards making times better.

Furthermore, Irvine, Garland and other farmer representatives in the Federal House held the balance of power for nearly nine years, and could force the government to comply with any legislation they demanded, and we would ask them to point out one bit of legislation they endorsed or instituted that might have forestalled present conditions.

The Federal Government and the Governments of all Canadian provinces are and have been doing all in their power to alleviate prevailing depression and make conditions as easy as possible for the people. During the past winter many millions of dollars have been spent in providing work and relief for our unemployed, and from all parts of the Dominion it is reported that there has been no real suffering that could be avoided by legislation.

We do not think Communism could have accomplished more.

An Outside Opinion of Irvine, M.P.

(From the Winnipeg Tribune—William Irvine, M.P., for Waskasine, Alberta, still thinks secession is a good "sore word." He is afraid of the Farmer and the people of Eastern Canada will take too lightly "the rumblings of a distressed, disgraced people."

Mr. Irvine pictures himself as "speaking to the best of his ability" against secession. He tried to make the House believe that he had been a lone voice, bravely upholding against an overwhelming popular movement. He struggled manfully to stem the rising tide, but what could one man do?

A peculiar feature of "secession" as we have it in the West, is that it is whipped and reviled by those who are doing their best to keep it alive. Mr. Irvine knows, or should know, that there are only seven men in the Western Canada who could properly be called secessionists. They adopted the secession baby at Wilkie, Sask., on January 10, 1931, and they downed it at Saskatoon on February 26. They confessed that they used it in the first place only in the hope of creating a scare.

When it comes to standing up in meeting and defending secession the Wilkie stalwarts had nothing to say. They wanted the Saskatoon convention to forget that they ever used the word. Secession was a whipping-boy for them, as it is for Mr. Irvine. If Mr. Irvine thinks it necessary to convince the East that a state of desperation prevails in the West he ought to do something new if only for variety's sake.

The secession scare had a merry life, but a short one. The proclamation that the West is living on a diet of gophers and Russian thistles cannot be expected to last forever. The people down East know gophers to feed two million people indefinitely. They know, too, that we have to wait for a new crop of Russian thistles after getting up the first one.

The time has arrived, as the walrus remarked, to talk of many things. Mr. Irvine is resourceful in thought and in language. He can give the East a new one if he puts his mind to it.

But let it be a real thriller—something that will strike terror to the heart of the unimaginative East and cause

Canada Buying More at Home

Ottawa, April 25.—Canada is becoming increasingly independent in her industries, her shipping and her agriculture, according to Canadian Government statistics. These figures show that despite an increasing apparent consumption of manufactured commodities Canadian manufacturers are more than holding their own in supplying more than three-quarters of this demand, that an increasing percentage of Canadian wheat is being exported through Canadian ports to overseas countries, that all coke used in Canadian blast furnaces is now produced in Canada, that the quality of Canadian meat and dairy products is improving under Government grading and that Canadian exporters are increasingly successful in their search for new markets throughout the world.

The apparent consumption in Canada of manufactured commodities, according to figures which have just been issued, amounted to $4,308,378,487, an increase of slightly more than six per cent. over the preceding year. Of the total, Canadian manufacturers supplied 76.6 per cent in 1929, and 76.0 per cent. in 1928.

Gross value of manufacturing production in 1929 amounted to more than four billion dollars, while the capital invested aggregated over five billion dollars, an increase over the preceding year of 7.8 per cent. and 6.3 per cent. respectively.

Approximately 58 per cent. of Canada's overseas shipments of wheat during the past eight months of the present crop year passed through home ports as compared with 52.5 per cent. in the corresponding period of the 1929-1930 crop year. While overseas shipments of Canadian wheat have increased by 62 per cent. shipments through Canadian ports have increased by nearly 80 per cent. while those through United States Ports have increased by only 44 per cent.

In Canada's foreign trade, during the past fiscal year, United States purchases from the Dominion showed increases over the preceding year in sugar, silver, coal, electrical iron and automobiles and parts. The latter were mainly re-exports or original imports from that country. Canada's exports to United Kingdom showed increases in canned vegetables, cattle, canned fish, raw hides and unmanufactured leather, raw wool, farm implements hardware, iron pigs, ingots, petroleum and its products.
